

@Lunchtime IPEPS Webinar Series

15 November 2017– 28 March 2018

Between 15 November 2017 and 28 March 2018, on Wednesday at noon, CEPS will organise a webinar on a topical EU policy issue. During these virtual seminars, participants can get a better understanding of a variety of key EU issues at stake, ranging from EU governance and financial markets, to energy and climate change.

Each webinar will feature a presentation from a CEPS researcher, who will introduce the issue and the policy debate, and include a Q&A session.

The seminars are part of the IPEPS project, an EU-funded project, in cooperation with your University!

Participation is free of charge for students from partner universities.

Join¹ on your computer, tablet or smartphone.

¹ Details about the registration procedure and the technical requirements will be provided ahead of each seminar.

Programme

Date*	Topic	Presenter
15 November 2017 12h00-13h00	The Future of Europe and the way forward	Sophia Russack & Steven Blockmans
22 November 2017 12h00-13h00	ECB Monetary Policy: Return to Normality	Daniel Gros & Cinzia Alcidi
29 November 2017 12h00-13h00	Challenges to Labour Mobility in the EU	Matthias Busse & Mikkel Barslund
06 December 2017 12h00-13h00	Migration Crisis in the Mediterranean	Mikkel Barslund & Nadzeya Laurentsyeva
13 December 2017 12h00-13h00	Combatting climate change with the EU emissions trading system	Milan Elkerbout & Eleanor Drabik
14 February 2018 12h00-13h00	The complexity of the EU-Turkey political relations	Steven Blockmans & Hrant Kostanyan
07 March 2018 12h00-13h00	Brexit: What are the implications for climate and energy policy in the EU?	Milan Elkerbout & Eleanor Drabik
14 March 2018 12h00-13h00	Impact of Brexit on the Financial services sector	Karel Lannoo
21 March 2018 12h00-13h00	Role of intermediaries in the Panama Papers	Willem Pieter de Groen
28 March 2018 12h00-13h00	Completing the European Monetary Union	Daniel Gros & Cinzia Alcidi

* The times indicated are in Brussels local time (GMT+2)